Noelle Moore Caballero

Interaction Foundations

James Fawcett

Notes for Madeleine Yeung:

- I really like the edits you have made, they make the website which was already consistent even more consistent -- I also quite enjoy the touch with the boldening of text when you hover over the navbar.
- One very minor note -- The final sentence in the How-To section should say 'mimeo can', not mime can.
- Now that I see the title to the navbar changed, the repetition of it being named as the title feels repetitive. Could you rename it to something like 'Explore'?
- I enjoy the subtitle text in the timeline section, I just wish I saw it once more throughout the site -- Could this be used in the How-To or Gallery section?
- While I really like the strong royal blue background, I feel like just a flat color makes it feel a bit empty. Could you take the color hex code of it and take an image from the wikipedia site, and cross these with opacity for a more interesting background? Here is an example.

The example in question: